

The Best Book

Of course the best book is the Bible. The man who said the best book was the pocket book, tried to say something smart and failed.

A bank book is a better book than a pocket book. The thief might steal your pocket book, or you might lose it in many ways. It's gone for good, too. But in case of accident we will gladly supply you with another bank book and your funds will always be secured in our bank. Place your dependence on a bank book in preference to a pocket book every time. We will furnish you a nice one free any time you wish to open an account.

SUMMER CARE OF RASPBERRY

Soil of Plantation Should Never Be Allowed to Become Dry—Cut Out All Old Canes.

(By E. P. SANDSTEN, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Wyo.)

During the fruiting season the soil of the raspberry plantation should never be permitted to become dry. Lack of abundant moisture results in small and seedy berries, poor yield and quality. Over 80 per cent of the weight of the berries is water and when this element of plant food is lacking the fruit cannot develop to the normal size.

As soon as the fruiting season is over, all the canes that have fruited should be cut out close to the ground.

Fine Raspberries.

so as not to leave any stumps sticking out and thus interfere with subsequent pruning and cultivation. All the old canes should be burned so as not to scatter disease to the young growing canes. The plantation should then be thoroughly cultivated and kept in growing condition until about the first of September. About twelve of the young canes should be left for the next year's fruiting. The balance should be removed and burned. The removal of superfluous shoots will permit the remaining canes to grow stronger. Fertilizers, especially barnyard fertilizers, should not be applied during the summer months. The plantation should at all times be kept free from weeds and the soil kept mellow by cultivation.

FERTILIZER FOR THE GRAPES

Light Thrown on Subject by New York Experiment Station—Investigations of Much Value.

Little light on the value of fertilizers for grapes is thrown by the New York station after five years' tests in several vineyards in the Lake Erie grape belt. The field experiments are so contradictory that no deductions can be drawn.

The investigations, however, are of value because they suggest that money is wasted when spent for fertilizers to be used in poorly drained vineyards, those that suffer frequently from winter colds or spring frosts, where insect pests are epidemic and uncontrolled, or where good care is lacking. It is certain in many instances that only one or a few of the elements of fertility are lacking in many vineyards.

The element most frequently lacking is nitrogen. The soil of many vineyards is very uneven in quality, and it becomes a problem for grape growers to make more uniform conditions in their vineyards.

POWER SPRAYER IN ORCHARD

Convenient and Economical for Orchardist With Comparatively Small Number of Trees.

For the orchardist having five or more acres of bearing apple trees the power sprayer is the most convenient and economical in that a large amount of work can be done with comparatively few "hands," and at a time when the spraying should be performed.

As an example, the arsenical spray for codling moth should be applied during the few days about the time or immediately after the last of the petals have dropped from the trees. A week later will not be as effective, and deferring the time may result in failure to control the pest. Many large fruit growers use one power sprayer for each 25 or 30 acres of bearing trees.

BIRD AS INSECT DESTROYER

Food of Average Youngster in Nest Estimated at Four Times Its Weight Each Day

It has been conservatively estimated that the food of the average young bird while in the nest amounts to four times the bird's weight, each day. In the case of those species which subsist entirely upon insects the good they do is absolutely incalculable.

Value of Peanuts.

A doctor is quoted as saying that a handful of peanuts eaten before retiring will quiet the nerves of the stomach. The same authority also claims that a few peanuts eaten after each meal will aid the digestion, provided they are freshly roasted.

All-Prevailing Truth.

The truth has great power when it is free; the true endures, the false is ever changing and decays. Thus it is that the true always rises to the surface, and in the end prevails.—Renaud.

Don't Neglect Your Gold.

Neglected colds get worse, instead of better. A stuffed head, a tight chest must be relieved at once. Dr. B-I-I's Pine-Tar-Honey is Nature's remedy. Honey and glycerine heal the irritated membrane, antiseptic tar loosens the phlegm, you breathe easier and your cold is broken up. Pleasant to take, Dr. B-I-I's Pine-Tar-Honey is an ideal remedy for children as well as grown-ups. At your Druggist, 25¢.—Advertisement.

Important Scientific Fact.

A process invented by an Italian chemist for extracting essential oils from citrus fruits is said not to affect the chemical properties of the oils in any way, and it is predicted that it eventually will revolutionize the industry.
